

BRAZILIAN JOURNAL OF NURSING (REVISTA BRASILEIRA DE ENFERMAGEM (REBEn))

Call for submission of original manuscripts for publication in a thematic number

"The evolution of nursing in the 200 years of Florence Nightingale"

In celebration of "200 years of Florence Nightingale", Brazilian Journal of Nursing (Revista Brasileira de Enfermagem) invites the national and international scientific community to submit manuscripts to the thematic number.

This number aims to give opportunity to nursing researchers to disseminate productions that contribute for the development of nursing and bring advance to the knowledge of the field.

Target audience: health and nursing professionals, researchers, professors of research and education institutions.

Categories of articles– original, review, reflection, experience report and/or technology innovation articles.

Judgment process- peer review

Submission period– from January 30, 2020 to April 30, 2020

Platform for submission – <https://mc04.manuscriptcentral.com/reben-scielo>

Notice of the evaluation decision: up to June 30, 2020

Prediction of publication of approved articles – October, 2020

Preparation of articles– you must follow strictly the instructions to authors available from: <http://reben.com.br/revista/instrucoes-aos-autores/> or <http://www.scielo.br/revistas/reben/pinstruc.htm>

You must inform in the Letter to the Editor that your manuscript is destined to the thematic number.

Language of submission and publication– English, Portuguese or Spanish

Editors:

Prof. Dr. Dulce Aparecida Barbosa
Associate Professor and Full Professor at UNIFESP
Editor-in-Chief

Prof. Dr. Antonio José Almeida Filho
Associate Professor at UFRJ
Scientific Editor